Programming I (MATH 1587)

Prof Peter Craig
(p.s.craig@durham.ac.uk)

Dr Sam Fearn
(s.m.fearn@durham.ac.uk)

Essentials

- First term only (some assessment during and after the Christmas vacation)

- No prior knowledge or programming experience assumed

- Taught substantially through practical classes:
  - each student has 1 two-hour class each week, starting in week 1
  - groups of 20-40 depending on the room
  - two tutors present to answer questions, ask you some questions, and provide assistance when you're stuck

- One lecture each week (Tuesday 4pm, ~~W103~~ room to be announced) and a voluntary drop-in support session (Friday 2pm, ENGEX1).

Allocation to groups and finding rooms

- Allocation of students to groups will not be known until the weekend: watch DUO and your email.

- Rooms are not always easy to find:
  - CG6* are in courtyard (single storey prefab behind Maths)
  - CM00* are in the building but only accessible from stairway near entrance to the "red greenhouse" (in main greenhouse entrance, turn left and take stairs down to the right after passing through door).
  - TLC026 is in the new Teaching and Learning Centre (across the road from the Science Site at the entrance beside Physics and the West building (Geography).

Preparation

- Make sure that by the end of Sunday you know:
  - your Durham University CIS username and password
  - your practical class
    - Group
    - Day and Time
    - Room
